FYI: Harloff says its scope cabinet's unique feature is its 3 intake and 2 exhaust fans. This setup creates a positive-pressure, HEPA-filtered drying system that replaces inside air 4 times per minute. The HEPA filters are replaceable from the top of the cabinet without having to remove stored scopes. The cabinets can hold 15 to 16 scopes, depending on the model, and can be ordered with numerous locking options. Available in stainless or painted steel, the cabinets are equipped to accommodate TRICOR Systems' Dri-Scope Aid (see p. 141), so you can easily add that internal lumen drying system at a later date or fully integrate it at the time of purchase.
